

Genmab Supports Local COVID-19 Relief Efforts

Genmab and its employees are concerned about the well-being of those in our local communities. When the COVID-19 pandemic struck and it became known that there was a need for personal protective equipment (PPE), Genmab quickly inventoried its stocks of gloves, disinfectants, and other needed materials and readied a donation to the Netherlands Red Cross and a local hospital in New Jersey.

To date, over USD 250,000 has been funded to global charitable organizations focused on relief efforts, including access to vaccinations, providing services to assist those affected by the pandemic, and the purchase of PPE and other medical supplies and assistance.